

Petition for the Restoration and Development of the Remnant Tribes of Amarukah

Petition Summary

Join us in standing for justice, sustainability, and renewal. The Remnant Tribes of Amarukah — represented through the Kwaji:Yä Knögé Nation — seek recognition, restoration of ancestral lands, and revitalisation of Indigenous cultural and social institutions. Together, we can ensure a thriving, self-determined future for Indigenous peoples and generations to come.

We, the undersigned, call upon community members, leaders, and all people of conscience to support the restoration and development of the Remnant Tribes of Amarukah, embodied in the Kwaji:Yä Knögé Nation.

Our vision is one of harmony, sustainability, and cultural renewal. On lands once marked by historical injustices, we seek to reclaim our sacred ancestral territories and rebuild communities rooted in dignity, ceremony, and self-determination.

As descendants of the Indigenous tribes that once flourished throughout Amarukah, we carry forward a heritage that has endured through centuries of adversity. Yet today, our communities face continuing challenges — economic disparities, limited access to education and healthcare, and the erosion of traditional knowledge and cultural practices.

Without decisive action, we risk losing not only our heritage but also the unique wisdom we can offer to a world in ecological and spiritual crisis.

Our Nation and Vision

The Kwaji:Yä Knögé Nation stands as a sovereign tribal body rooted in the sacred duty of land guardianship and cultural restoration. We are heirs of ancient lineages, united by the call to preserve and protect the living Earth while nurturing a thriving community grounded in ceremony, justice, and wisdom.

Our Nation exists as a sanctuary for both people and nature — a place where ancestral traditions guide modern life, and sovereignty is expressed not only through law but through daily stewardship of Mother Gaia.

Through our signature initiative, WÁKALE AMOTÍ, we invite the world to witness a living model of regeneration and harmony, where every action honours Creator, ancestors, and future generations.

We envision communities where:

- Agriculture honours the earth and ensures food security for all,
- Energy flows from renewable, sustainable sources,
- Economies operate on circular, community-centered principles,

- Youth are guided by rites of passage rooted in earth stewardship, martial arts, and ancestral wisdom,
- And all life is honoured as sacred.

This is the living covenant of Amarukah — a renewal of harmony between humanity, spirit, and creation.

Foundational Principles

This petition upholds the rights affirmed in the American Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples, including:

- The right to self-determination and self-identification
- The right to land, territories, and resources
- The right to preserve language, culture, and spirituality
- The right to fair redress for loss and dispossession

These principles are not only legal affirmations — they are sacred responsibilities, guiding our path toward sovereignty, restoration, and ecological balance.
